Omaha, Neb.—(AP)—Another man has fallen victim to Omaha's maniac rifleman. Ross W. Johnson, 28-year-old railroad detective, was shot and seriously wounded Friday night at Council Bluffs, Iowa, across the Missouri river from here. Five empty .22 calibre shells supplied what the police considered a connecting link between the latest shooting and the mysterious slaying of two Omahans earlier in the week. Similar shells were found near the other victims.

The new outrage added to the apprehension of residents of Omaha and vicinity who have been terrorized for six days by the activities of the night prowling sniper. During that period, several persons have been fired at in addition to those slain or wounded.

Johnson was in a critical condition in a Council Bluffs hospital.

Johnson was shot five times by a man with a .22 calibre rifle, believed equipped with a silencer, as he was examining coals on a freight car.

The man fired, speeded by two bullets from Johnson's revolver, which the officer believes were ineffective.

Dr. A. D. Seales, aged physician, shot down in his office Tuesday night, and William McDewitt, killed outright on the street Sunday night, are the others whose slaying is ascribed to the "maniac rifleman" by police.

Johnson was shot five times, only two of these being in vital parts of his body. He gave officers a good description of his assailant and said the first warning he had was the sting of the bullets. Police Inspector Dan Baum of Omaha said Saturday he is convinced the same man shot Johnson who shot the Omaha men and that the man was attempting to catch a freight train from here when he feared interception by the officers.

Johnson came here six weeks ago from Kansas City and police were attempting to check his record there to learn whether he might have incurred might be responsible for the attack. He did not recognize the man who shot him. He has a wife and two small children.

REFUSE CHURCH USE OF
INN FOR SERVICES

Milwaukee—(AP)—Petition of a Catholic parish of Milwaukee to open a roadhouse building padlocked for violation of the federal prohibition act and use the building for parish services was denied by Federal Judge Gelger here Saturday. The roadhouse, known as the Golden Pheasant located near the outskirts of the city was padlocked for one year, following the finding by federal court that the prohibition amendment had been violated.

The owner of the road house agreed to donate the structure free of rent to the parish for one year, provided federal consent was had. Judge Gelger in refusing the petition, stated that when the court padlocked a building of one year, the building is to remain padlocked for that period.

PEGGY GIVEN DIVORCE FROM
FRENCH COUNTMuch Wedded Peggy Hopkins
Joyce Single Again After Fourth Marriage

Paris—(AP)—Countess Costa Morner, the former Peggy Hopkins Joyce, was granted a divorce from the count, her husband, by a decree handed down Nov. 23, 1925, examination of the Paris court records revealed.

The decree was granted in favor of the countess, as Marguerite Upton. The plaintiff, in her petition, set forth that from the beginning her husband has shown a marked repugnance for life with her, which he called insupportable. She alleges that he "separated from her morally" and that she had to resign herself to finding refuge in Paris where he refused to join her.

Although Countess Morner, on her return to New York from Paris last November, denied she had any intention of seeking a divorce, Paris court records at that time showed her petition already had been filed.

Following the usual procedure, the magistrate summoned both parties to appear in "reconciliation proceedings." When the count failed to appear the court registered what is known in French law as "ordonnance de non reconciliation."

Precedent showed that the final decree should follow automatically within 60 days of the registration of this ordinance.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce was married to Count Morner, then a resident of Chicago, on June 3, 1924.

Divorce Case Of Wright
Is Scheduled For March 11

Madison—(AP)—Argument by attorneys for Frank Lloyd Wright, noted Spring Green, Wis., architect, and his wife, Miriam Noel Wright, sculptress, on the question of payment of attorneys fees and maintenance for their divorce suit, was set for Saturday. The hearing before Circuit Judge A. C. Hoppman was fixed for Saturday afternoon by agreement with the attorneys, who were expected to come from Chicago.

Although attorneys for both parties in Baraboo, where the divorce case is docketed for trial March 11, were out of town, it was understood here that no definite demands have been made by Mrs. Wright's attorneys for the payments. Judge Hoppman said he understood he would be asked to fix the amount which she would receive.

Wright, whose Spring Green home, Taliesin, kept him in public notice, is suing his wife for divorce on grounds of desertion. In her counter complaint she alleges he was cruel to her and charged misconduct between Wright and Mrs. Olga Milanoff, Montenegrin dancer and divorcee, who was his housekeeper.

The architect first attracted attention in 1909 when he deserted his first wife and six children in their Oak Park, Ill., home and eloped with Mrs. Mamah Borthwick Cheney, wife of Edwin H. Cheney of Oak Park.

They lived in the bungalow at Spring Green in 1914. Mamah Borthwick was murdered by an insane negro servant and a year later Miriam Noel was reported to be Wright's companion at the bungalow.

At the instance of Mrs. Nellie Breen a former house keeper, federal authorities began an investigation. Miss Noel disappeared. Three years later Wright obtained a divorce and Wright and Miriam Noel were married.

BILL PROPOSES
AID FOR FLOODSWould Appropriate $17,000 for Survey of Wolf and Fox Rivers

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The expenditure of $17,000 for federal aid in a proposed survey of flood control possibilities in the Wolf and Fox rivers, Wisconsin, was proposed Friday by Major General Harry Taylor, chief of army engineers, in a report sent to the house.

Local interests have requested a diversion channel from the upper Wolf river to Green Bay to prevent flood damage said to effect 150 acres at an estimated cost of $1,000,000. Army engineers estimated the cost of such a cut-off at $25,000,000, the report says and believes that such a project would have a deleterious effect on power development on the lower Fox.

Flood dangers have resulted from increasing the levels of Lake Winnebago in connection with navigation and power development as result of which the federal government has paid out nearly $600,000 flood damages.

Fletcher will be sentenced next Thursday.

G. O. P. SEEKS TO SUPPRESS
PROBE HABITEconomy Argument Is Raised by Republicans for Dropping Inquiries

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1926 by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington—Senator Warren of Wyoming has furnished estimates as to the expense of the investigating habits of congress, but he only referred to the cost of stenographic help and the travel of members of committees. Far more than that item is the cost to the businessmen of America who have to attend committee hearings either under subpoena, or voluntarily, to defend their viewpoint when attacked.

The Republicans, who are now raising the economy argument, have been just as much offenders in this respect as the Democrats. There is no doubt that the minority party has used the investigating machinery of congress for campaign purposes. Not only is it good newspaper publicity but the speeches and records of hearings are printed and sent broadcast in the hope of influencing the opinion of the country.

And yet the money argument will hardly succeed as a barrier to investigations. When congress is in the mood to investigate, it does so regardless of expense.

SAVING EXCEEDS EXPENSE.
If the average investigation costs from $50,000 to $100,000, congress as a rule assumes the attitude that this is a small amount to pay when an injustice to the extent of many millions is believed to be involved and when the public is the injured party.

The Republicans appreciate that economy is a popular slogan and they hope that they can make investigations unpopular by pointing to the cost thereof. Unfortunately for the Republican side, the Democrats are using another argument—one which worked successfully early in 1924 when they forced the resignations of Secretary Denby and Attorney-General Daugherty. They are attempting to prove that the department of justice again cannot be depended upon to look after the interests of the people. They insist that in the aluminum case the department of justice has not done as much as it might. The implication is that Attorney-General Sargent was too considerate of his fellow cabinet officer, Secretary Mellon, who is one of the largest stockholders in the aluminum company.

The Democrats may be insisting that they want an investigation by congress but nothing would suit more than to have the Republican party use its power in congress to suppress the inquiry. For then, they would contend that the administration was afraid of the disclosures. And as for publicity, men like Senator Walsh of Montana do not need a committee hearing in order to deliver attacks that get into the headlines.

TRANSFER CONTROVERSY
If the inquiries are suppressed it will mean that some unimportant and money-consuming investigations will be eliminated but on the major issues the controversy will be transferred from committee room to the floor of the senate. So long as the right of virtually unrestricted speech-making continues, the bombardment of an administration by political foes will continue. It will not be as easy to elicit facts as when committee hearings are under way and witnesses under oath. But the political ammunition will be there. And in some instances the debate will grow to such intensity that the senate will be compelled by public opinion to order inquiries.

It is therefore too early to say whether the defense move of the Republicans to suppress inquiries is a wise one, or whether it will in itself prove a boomerang. If it does succeed it will be hailed by businessmen as a precedent that may save them millions of dollars in time in the next few years.

DOCTOR DIES

DR. M. J. SANDBORN

DR. SANDBORN,
X-RAY EXPERT,
IS DEAD HERENoted Appleton Surgeon Fails to Recover After Appendicitis Operation

Dr. Manley J. Sandborn, 57, president of the Radiological Society of North America and one of the best known authorities on X-Ray in all North America, died unexpectedly about 2 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Elizabeth hospital where he had been confined since Wednesday when he submitted to an operation for appendicitis. Dr. Sandborn had not been in the best of health for some time and specialists diagnosed his ailment as a diseased appendix. About a month ago, he went to Chicago and the diagnosis was confirmed. The trouble was not acute, however, and Dr. Sandborn arranged for the operation at a time that would be convenient for him. He called after the operation and apparently was mending slowly, but Friday night his condition became alarming and he died two hours after midnight. His family was at his bedside.

The funeral will be held at 2:30 Monday afternoon at the Methodist church and interment will be in Riverside cemetery. The body will rest in state from 1:30 to 2:30 at the church. The Masonic order will conduct the rites at his grave.

ORGANIZES SOCIETY
Dr. Sandborn's interest in X-Ray developed soon after its discovery in 1895. Almost immediately he began a study of its medical properties and he soon was considered one of the greatest authorities in the country on the phenomenon. In 1915 Dr. Sandborn assisted in the organization of a national society of radiologists in Chicago and he helped guide the infant organization through its first years. Then, four or five years ago, he was elected its secretary and the society immediately grew rapidly until now it has more than 1,000 members in every state in the union. Last year Dr. Sandborn was elected president of the society.

BORN AT FREEDOM
Dr. Sandborn spent almost all his life in Outagamie co. He was born in the town of Freedom on July 25, 1869.

The resolution also calls for the making public of all secret documents of the allied governments bearing upon the causes of the World war.

Mr. Berger declared that the war "was based on a million lies" and that the "greatest lie" was "that Germany was the sole cause" of the war. The "hellish pact of Versailles" he added "rests on that lie."

Heavy Revelry

Chicago—(AP)—Frederick W. Pearson, 30, whose father died two years ago, leaving a $2,000,000 estate, was burned to death Saturday in a fire in his room at the Claridge hotel, started by a lighted cigarette.

John H. Hogshhead, his young companion in a night of revelry, narrowly escaped a similar fate.

The young men registered at the Claridge at 4:45 a. m. after a night at pleasure resorts. Both had been drinking, Hogshhead told Thomas Condon, police captain. Hogshhead's clothes were burned and the flames had singed his hair.

Investigation disclosed young Pearson's body, terribly burned, seated in the charred remnants of an over-stuffed chair in which he had fallen asleep.

The fire was confined to the one room.

Young Pearson inherited most of the $2,000,000 estate of his father, the late Walter B. Pearson, who was president of the Standard Screw Co.

By his father's will, Pearson would have obtained $2,000,000 in 1920 when he would have been 25 years old.

The fire followed by a few hours a raid on the hotel by prohibition agents who broke up a lively party being held by theatrical people.

Trapped by fire on the upper floors of the exclusive Kenwood club, 10 members and employees were carried to safety early Saturday by firemen in a series of thrilling rescues.

The first and second floors of the club were destroyed.

STATE RAISES PRICES
OF PRISON BINDER TWINE

Madison—(AP)—New Prices of 12 cents a pound for standard and 15¢ cents for climax grades of binder twine manufactured at the state prison at Waupun were announced Saturday by the state board of control. The new prices represent an increase from 10¢ cents for standard and 13¢ cents for climax due entirely to higher cost of raw materials.

Quantity discounts ranging from one-tenth of a cent per pound for 2,000 to 10,000 pounds up to three-fourths of a cent for 80,000 pounds and over also were announced. Further cash discounts of from 1 to 5 per cent are allowed depending on the time of payment.

"Wisconsin prison twine prices are 1½ cents per pound lower for standard and one cent per pound lower for climax, 600 feet to the pound, than the prices quoted by the Cordage trust," the board stated.

ELECT BAKER HEAD OF ENGINEER'S SOCIETY

Madison—(AP)—C. M. Baker, sanitary engineer, was elected president of the engineering society of Wisconsin late Friday. G. E. Heeblich, Beloit, is vice president and A. L. Hults, Marinette, J. T. Donaghy, state highway engineer, and Joe Schwada, Milwaukee, are trustees.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The cold that has kept President Coolidge from his desk for two days has not prevented him from keeping up with current topics and from making known his views to newspapermen, who were the first callers received since he took to his bed.

The president walked from his living quarters to his office late Friday and although troubled with a sore throat, he talked to the correspondents for 15 minutes. The Italian debt situation and the proposal that the government take over and distribute stocks of bonded medicinal liquor are two of the subjects studied by the chief executive during his two days of forced idleness.

Mr. Coolidge agrees with Secretary Mellon that it would be unwise for the government to assume ownership of the medicinal liquors, as suggested by assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition.

Mr. Andrews holds the opinion that such a step eventually must be taken to stop leaks to the illicit trade.

The president hopes that the opposition to acceptance of the Italian debt funding agreement now indicated will not prevent ratification by the Senate. Should the agreement be rejected, Mr. Coolidge believes Italy would be likely to conclude that it was not called upon for further effort toward a settlement.

The recommendations of the debt commission, the president feels, were based on expert analysis of Italy's capacity to pay and should these recommendations be disregarded it would be extremely difficult to learn how much Italy should be asked to pay.

Moreover, Mr. Coolidge is represented as holding that the senate Democrats should be willing to accept the funding agreement if the Republican party is ready to display a liberal attitude toward the debt nation in accepting the debt commission's recommendations.

YOUTH AWARDED $1,300
IN WHIPPING SUIT

Milwaukee—(AP)—A verdict awarding $1,300 damages in his suit against Daniel W. Norris, millionaire owner of a boy's farm near here, was returned by a jury which heard the testimony in the case. The verdict was read by Judge G. G. Gehrz Saturday.

The suit was the outgrowth of a whipping administered to the boy while he was at the farm. The court had previously directed a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, holding that he had been punished improperly. The matter left for the decision of the jury was fixing the amount of the damages.

The first trial of the suit was held last May and the jury found in favor of the boy, awarding him $1 damages. Appeal was taken and the supreme court ordered a new trial which was completed Friday.

Captain Blake said the Seneca had been watching the Eastwood for three months during which time she established contact with several shore vessels but had not even hailed her.

PASSAGE OF
BILL ASSURED
BY NEXT WEEKRepresents Compromise on Many Provisions Between
House and Senate

LOWERS INCOME TAXES

Inheritance Tax Was Main Stumbling Block in All Conferences

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—Revised estimates of the revenue bill finally agreed to between senate and house conferees showed Saturday that the total reduction would amount this year to $387,000,000 of $6,000,000 more than originally estimated. The additional saving will result, it was said, from the changes made in the corporation tax whereby the increase of this rate would be one half of one percent for the remainder of this year and one percent thereafter.

Representative Green republican, Iowa head of the House conferees announced he would report the bill to the house Monday and representative Tison of Connecticut the Republican floor leader, told the house he would ask for action on the measure Tuesday.

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—The revenue bill, whipped into shape after four months of constant work, providing for tax reductions of $381,000,000 this year, $343,000,000 thereafter and for many changes in the administrative features of the present income tax law, is ready for its final passage.

Representing a compromise on many provisions between the senate and house, the bill will be taken before each branch for ratification the first of next week and if given approval will be sent to the white house for the signature of President Coolidge.

The measure will become law before the end of next week under this program, its managers believe, with many of its provisions for widespread reductions in taxes becoming effective immediately.

The lowered income taxes will be effective on income for last year on which taxes are payable by March 15. Taxes eliminated by the senate but restored in conference on the insistence of the house conference include those on automobile passenger cars, admissions and dues and inheritances.

BOTH GIVE IN
While the house gave its main point, retention of the modified inheritance rates with a provision for 80 per cent credit on account of payments on state inheritance payments, it was forced to yield to the senate's demand for a retroactive cut in this tax whereby the increased rates to effect since 1924 would be eliminated in favor of the lower rates applying in the 1921 law.

The inheritance tax which proved to be the main stumbling block in the conference, promises to be the subject of renewed controversy in both the senate and house when the compromise bill comes up for approval. Quick agreement on other provisions are looked for.

While the total reduction of $381,000,000 is $75,000,000 below the amount proposed by the senate, it is $10,000,000 above that voted by the house. This is somewhat above the limit set by Secretary Mellon but confidence was expressed by administration leaders that such a cut could be made without danger of a treasury deficit.

TRACTOR PLANT DOUBLES FORCE TO MEET DEMAND

Eagle Co. Received More Orders in Month of 1926 Than in All of 1925

Prospects for one of the biggest business years ever experienced by the Eagle Manufacturing Co. makers of tractors, silo fillers, portable engines, feed cutters and like machinery, are exceedingly good according to reports of Arthur H. Erdman, assistant sales manager of the firm. Over 150 orders have been received since Jan. 1 and while the year always opens well, this is the largest initial order ever taken care of. More orders for feed cutters have been booked so far this year than were sold all last year, reports show.

Other machines for which the demand is increasing are the portable engines and silo fillers. The motor manufactured by the company is being used in many instances to replace the tractor.

Much of the trade comes from Canada where the farmers are depending more and more on Eagle machines. Thirty-six orders were received from one section in January. At present another Eagle product is being tried as an experiment in Kentucky and is meeting with success. It is a combined tractor and stone crusher. The larger stones of the road are scraped to the center crown and the tractor moves steadily along while the crusher does its work. Then a specially built axle spreads the stones the entire width of the highway, completing the road work.

Nearly twice as many workers as last year are being employed to meet the big rush, but all are experienced men.

60 SINGERS IN ST. OLAF CHOIR

Lutheran Chorists Have Sung in Most of Large Cities of Country

The famous St. Olaf Lutheran choir, composed of 25 boys and 35 girls, which will give a concert at Lawrence Memorial chapel on Easter day, April 4, is one of the best greatest groups of singers to appear on an American concert platform, according to critics. The choir has created a series of musical sensations both in the east and west.

Several times in recent years, the choir has sung in most of the larger eastern cities. During the winter of 1924-25, an extensive tour of the west brought them to the cities of the Pacific coast. The result everywhere has been the same. No matter where they have sung, both musicians and musical laymen have united in the most extravagant laudation at the singularly impressive results achieved.

Until Dr. P. Melius Christiansen began to carry into practice the choral ideals he had absorbed in the classes of Cantor Gustav Schreck, Professor at the Leipzig conservatory and leader for many years of the celebrated Thomas church choir, no one dreamed it was humanly possible to take untrained musical material and, in a short time, develop it until it represented the very apex of choral singing in this country.

Sixty boys and girls, the majority without much advanced musical training before Christiansen took them in hand, form the choir.

Christiansen is without doubt the greatest choral leader in America and with no peer abroad, according to critics.

FOR BETTER RADIO RECEPTION

An editorial published in The Post-Crescent recently headed, "That Yearning for DX" was sent with a letter of explanation to thirty of the leading broadcasting stations in eastern and central United States. We have had an acknowledgment from most of the recipients. Some of the responses are two page letters, in which the radio situation is gone into at length. Without an exception the writers declare the editorial to be "extremely interesting." Other comments are that it was "absolutely accurate" and that it sized up the conditions perfectly. The writer of the editorial had no scientific knowledge of radio but is a constant operator of a radio set. It dealt with poor reception, heterodyning and with radio in a general way from the standpoint of the lay receiver. Replies to this editorial have been quite as interesting as the editorial appears to have been to the broadcasting stations.

One theory advanced by a leading station was that the northern lights may be responsible for a weak reception this winter, although it is admitted this is a "very wild guess" and the experts "cannot understand the connecting phenomena between reflected light waves and electromagnetic light waves, which are utilized for the transmission of radio signals."

The rest possible and high-grade sending stations are in favor of the passage of the White bill, now pending in congress, on the ground that it will materially simplify the whole situation, permitting broadcasting stations to be arranged without heterodyning, and for the better control of interference. It is expected the bill will have trouble in the senate, principally because of the fact that it seeks to establish genuine government control over radio broadcasting. There are influences at work against legislation of the kind, for the reason that they wish to exploit radio without regulation. The White bill would place the supervision of radio directly under Secretary of Commerce Hoover's authority, thus permitting a cabinet member who has had much experience in the investigation of radio problems and who has taken a keen interest in the subject, to reorganize the whole broadcasting scheme.

We think every user of radio will agree that this bill ought to be passed. It is necessary for the government to take effective control of radio broadcasting at once. Conditions are chaotic and it is not only the receiver but the broadcaster as well who is suffering from this growing demoralization. The department of commerce should be given full authority to deal with the problem, and after reorganization by it has been thoroughly tested, it will be comparatively easy to enact any supplementary legislation which experience may show to be advisable. As matters stand today radio broadcasting is being developed under adverse conditions. The public is today dissatisfied and something must be done to bring about improvement. Of course it will be done in the end, but the sooner the better. It is not a case where there is any conflict of interests. The interests are identical. It is solely a question of how broadcasting shall be regulated to produce the most satisfactory results all around.

MORE CHICAGO JUSTICE

Four Chicago murderers were sentenced to hang yesterday. All of them were saved at the last minute by the intervention of court orders. Without a doubt all were guilty and deserved to hang. This is typical of Chicago justice. Hardly one murderer in a hundred ever pays the death penalty in that city. In other words, murderers are protected rather than society. The lives of those who are slain seem to count for nothing.

This miscarriage of justice is due almost entirely to rotten politics. There are weak-kneed judges, weak-kneed prosecutors and doubtless corrupt ones as well.

Any city in America can place itself at the mercy of gangs, bootleggers, robbers and cut-throats by turning its government over to politicians who consort with grafters and commercial criminals. Few cities go as far as Chicago has gone in surrendering their freedom, respectability and security. But many go part way with these undermining forces. There is not a city of any size but feels the pressure. We have it here in Appleton. It is hard to deal with because it masquerades under cover. Chicago is not entirely an exception in depraved government. Rather it is the culmination of black-leg power.

PROPOSALS OF 1700 A. D.

Taking one thing with another, life in this great republic of ours is wagging along much the same as always. To be sure, surface customs and manners change, as they always have and always will, but the fundamental characteristics of American life—patriotism, decency, love of home and family, perseverance—these persist about as they were fifty or a hundred years ago.

For this reason it is difficult to understand the attitude of some very good people who insist that, unless we take strong measures, we shall rush headlong to the millennium how-woos.

For instance, the wires carried a story the other day concerning an ordinance introduced for consideration of the city council of Little Rock, Ark., touching on censorship for amusements.

After prohibiting girl dancers on the stage from displaying their bare skin above the knees or below the shoulders, the proposed law sets forth that no jokes will be permitted in any show that tend to ridicule prohibition, religion, faithfulness to marriage ties, family life or "any patriotic event in American history."

This law has not yet been passed, and it may be defeated; but it is worth considering because it is typical of so many similar movements in all parts of the country.

Unquestionably such things as religion, family life, the patriotic events in our history and all the rest are worth preserving. But this censorship idea hardly seems the correct way to go about it.

If family life, for example, is ridiculed on the stage, it is because certain aspects of it are already, throughout the country, being held up to ridicule by private individuals. For the stage only mirrors our everyday viewpoints and beliefs. No actor ever dared to send a shaft at any custom or institution that he did not know beforehand to be the subject of flippant comment among the majority of his audience.

That being the case, why all the fuss? If we have sunk so far that a vaudeville actor can safely poke fun at our oldest and most cherished traditions, a little thing like censorship won't help us. Either such a drastic law isn't needed at all—or else something ten times as stringent is needed and needed badly.

Whatever may be the matter with us, sixteenth century laws like the one submitted to the Little Rock council won't do anyone any good.

FIRST AID
Seven years old, and a fine little tot, You're known one just like her, as likes my nod. The sort of a youngster that makes mothers glad. So good about things, they've no time to be bad.
With sweepin', an' austin' and dishes and such, the housework for mother is sometimes too much, and folk who have raised one most likely have found, it helps when you have a wee daughter around.
A hummin', an' workin' and smilin' all day, for gettin' she's missin' a heap of good play. The worth of a child in her early life's told as early, sometimes, as at seven years old.
There's comfort for mom when her household is such, though maybe the help n'er amounts to so much. It isn't the work that is done, but, in truth, the working around with the child of youth.
I envy the mother who boasts of the tot, who really does little, but helps out a bit. When plans for the work of the household are made, she knows she can call on her little first aid.

INSTRUCTING THE PUBLIC

An important activity of health officers, and sometimes apparently the only activity these days is the instruction or enlightenment of the public in the matters of the prevalence of disease, sanitation and hygiene. A good health officer issues timely warnings whenever the occasion demands it, through the various mediums available. He urges vaccination when an outbreak of smallpox threatens the community or advises boiling the drinking water when the municipal water supply is found polluted, or reassures the public when some unfounded rumor is circulated to discourage the use of a food staple or to boost the sale of a substitute. If the health officer personally has no other duty than this and performed this duty promptly and fearlessly, he would earn his meager salary three over. But a certain type of health officer abuses this function egregiously. Why he does so it is hard to understand. Whether it be unfitness to assume the responsibilities of his office—which he gains by virtue of political preference—or whether it be some occult motive, the abuse stands out so boldly that we cannot pass it by. Let me cite a current instance.

When the rasnals had been turned out and the victors duly installed in office in New York city the other day a brand new health officer bobbed up, and as though provided especially for his purpose, a one horse snow fall, such as the coddled folk of the center of the universe call a storm arrived just ahead of the reporters, who sought material for a three column New York story. In due time they got down to the new health officer, and he requited himself of the following (I quote from the clipping which I have in my scrap book):

Harris's Health Advice
Health Commissioner Louis I. Harris issued a warning against wet feet, cold and pneumonia. "This snowfall," said the commissioner, "makes it timely to advise the public that they would do well to be very careful not to expose themselves by wetting their feet."

"It is the season of the year when people leave over heated offices, work shops or places of amusement by going out into the cold and exposing themselves to sudden changes of temperature. It is the part of wisdom for those who go about in this weather to protect their feet by wearing rubbers."

"Those who contract colds . . . should not delay to cure it. Neglect to do so may cause the development of pneumonia."

That's good enough for any scrap book. It is much better than many similar things in Life New York city apparently deserves her colorful Yaphite Center. The citizens of Yaphite probably imagine influenza and pneumonia germs come packed in mink and "bares" by spontaneous development in the slush. Not a word in this humorous warning issued by the brand new health commissioner, nor the faintest hint about the popular custom of coughing and sneezing in each other's faces. The rubber and over shoe manufacturers ought to invite Commissioner Harris to attend their next annual banquet and make a few remarks upon the noble contribution of that industry to the health of the great city of Yaphite. The shoe manufacturers on the other hand, should endeavor to engage me to deliver an address on something or other at their convention.

Saturday Sermon

THE FRUIT OF THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION

By Dr. Virgil Bryan Scott, Memorial Presbyterian Church

Text, Matt. 7:20. "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them." The Master had completed the argument of the great Sermon on the Mount and was almost ready to add the finishing touch in that great peroration which has come down through the centuries as the finest example of what the conclusion of a sermon should be. Just before He utters those great words in which He likened the man who built His life on the principles which He was speaking to the man who built his house on a rock, He spoke a word which has become the norm by which we are to gauge the success of the Christian religion as well as the success of any other religion.

"Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them." He had appealed to a law in the world of nature and had shown that men never expect to gather grapes of thorns or figs of thistles. He had shown that the good tree always brings forth good fruit. All of this was to illustrate the truth that in the realm of religion and character and spiritual leadership we judge by the fruit which is produced. All this is spoken with the thought in mind that there were religious leaders in that day who were leading men astray and that in the effect which they were producing was to be found the rule by which they were to be judged. But one cannot read these words without feeling that the Master was laying down a rule by which we are to determine the worth of the religion which He was establishing on the principles which He was teaching in His great sermon. "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them," was the rule by which the religion of the leaders of that day was to be judged, and it was the rule by which the religion of the Master was to be judged.

BY THEIR FRUITS

The emphatic word in this saying is fruit. "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them." On every hand we find those who seem to think that the Christian religion is just another religion, that like the religions of the past it will have its day and then pass out to give place to some other. The expression has often been used in the last generation, "Christianity is a failure; if not, why did we have the World War?" Men make this statement without realizing that there might be other forces implicated. Business might be implicated and education and science and many other forces which are at work to better the condition of the world. In the face of all this we can do no better than Jesus did when he appealed to the fruit of faith as the means by which we can come into an appreciation of its truth or its falsity. And this is the rule by which Christianity is to be judged.

There are those who shrink from the light and are afraid of what might happen if we face truth in the matter of this faith which is dearer than life to us. But we need not be afraid. When you look back over the long years since Jesus came into the world to bless it you will find a line of triumphs which can be traced back to no other force than that which Jesus of Nazareth set in motion.

We often hear men using the expression, "certain conditions in the world are a challenge to the church and to the Christian people." I have never liked the expression. It sounds like the cry of a man with his back to the wall who is fighting for his life, who knows that he is on the defense. If there is anything the Christian world needs today more than another, it is to realize that we should not be fighting a defensive but an offensive battle. You do not find a single place in the Bible where the faith is pictured as fighting for its life. Through it all there rings the challenge to the forces of evil to come on to the fight.

FIGHT TO DEATH

You listen and you will hear Jesus speak with the very forces of hell arrayed against him for a fight that was to be death and you hear him say, "Who among you convinceth me of sin?" You look and you see him on the cross when it seemed that evil had won the day over the best efforts of the good. But as you listen, you hear that confident note of victory sounded from the lips of Jesus. "This is your hour and the power of darkness." Jesus was looking beyond apparent defeat to final victory. And the thing that was true in Jesus' life is the thing that is true all the way along.

We need that spirit today in the ranks of the Christian world. Too long we have underestimated the strength of the good and overestimated the strength of evil. We need today to exclaim as Jesus did with the false religions of the world about him and their false teachers trying to trap him, "Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them." We need a new race of preachers to rise up in the earth and preach the triumphs of the church. We need some men to take up the pen and trace the march of progress from the days of the cross to the present hour. It is all there. No one will deny that Christ when he has been given the right of way in the life of a man has made a better man of him. No one will deny that the best men are the men who have tried to follow and have followed Jesus most closely.

The whole period of history since Jesus' day is full of illustrations of what Christ has done for the world. He has given us a new conception of God. The old gods of the past are gone. When Jesus came, the gods of the world were not even mortal. In many places they were worshiped with indecent rites. But Jesus revealed the Father, and today we never think of God as unclean. We always associate the very highest ideals with him.

Big Crowd Sees Drama Club Play

Playing before a well filled house with a cast that seemed to hold the interest of the audience from the beginning to the end of the production, the Dramatic Workshop of the Appleton Women's club presented Kate Douglas Wiggin's "The Crimson Rambler" Friday night at Fischers Appleton theatre. The scene of the play was in an old fashioned New England village.

The first act opened in a room in the Yellow house in Boushah, New Hampshire on an April afternoon when the Carey family was congregated to discuss the misfortune of having lost their money through an uncle who had at one time borrowed a large part of their fortune. Mrs. W. H. Dean played the part of Mother Carey, whose ambition was to bring joy and happiness to all those about her. Her daughter and "right hand man," Nancy Carey was played by Edna Schultz, the heroine of the production. Other members of the Carey family were represented by Molly Boehler, Kathleen Carey, Marie Stride as Julia Carey, Robert Currie as Gilbert Carey and Lawrence Herzog as Peter Carey. The Popham family with Mrs. Ossian Popham played by Betty Oast; her twin daughters, Lillian Joy Popham and Belinda Jane Popham played by Kathryn Arnold and Anne Bolson and Ossian Popham by Lawrence Selig kept the audience laughing whenever they appeared on the scene.

Others in the cast were Walter Voeks as Tom Hamilton, Dean Chamberlain as Olive Lord, Carl Schiebeler as Dr. Lord, Lynda Hollenbeck as Anne Charwick, Laura Schoettler as Mrs. Bill Harmon, Ralph Kradbe as Bill Harmon and Harold Kodzinski as Ralph Thurston.

The entire production showed thorough training and considerable acting ability. The executive staff included the director, Miss Martha Chandler, associate director, Miss Betty Marshall, business manager, Robert Currie, costume mistress, Miss Myranda Stiefens, stage manager, Leslie Dodson, property mistress, Miss Helen Beach, make-up mistress, Miss Lucette Marshall. Music was furnished by Appleton high school orchestra.

Recently, Mr. Shattuck was interviewed on the question of sincerity in art as one of the prominent issues in these days of artistic revolution, and the interview is realized by all those who know the true and sincere artistry of Mr. Shattuck.

"Sincerity comes from devotion to ideals," said Mr. Shattuck. "It is without affectation, excepting the affectation of embellishment, which is the right of art. It seems sheer imitation but respects standards and standard meanings. It is not patient with mediocrity, and is seldom satisfied with its own excellence. It obeys inspiration, but tests its value first. It despises shallowness, and in its greatest depths is never wanting in humility. If it becomes abstract it is forgiven, for it is earnest, not egotistical."

"Sincerity is love and therefore it is the root of all true progress. It is found in the simplest and most profound works. The spontaneous song of a child is better than the studied meanderings of the uninspired."

ORIENTAL SOUP VERY "TASTY" AMERICANS FIND

Oriental soups, although not served so frequently as the soups of other countries, are known for their superior flavor. The best soup or broth is made in the usual manner by boiling together the bones and trimmings of meat, but the characteristic flavor of the finished product is obtained by the addition of various dressings and flavorings.

Lentil soup is made with broth, lentils, butter, onions, seasoning, and dressing. To six cups of broth add one cup of lentils which have been soaked in water for 12 hours. Add two medium-sized onions (chopped), season, and boil together until the vegetables may be mashed easily. Press through a sieve into a little broth, and place the soup over a slow fire to simmer. Pour a little of the broth into a dressing which has been made by combining one beaten egg with the juice of one lemon. Combine the two mixtures, stir well, and serve piping hot with onions, or strips of toasted bread. It is as thick as a purée.

Household Hints

WRAPPED ICE
Ice that is wrapped in newspaper will not keep the refrigerator cold. It has to melt in order to cool the box.

SWEET BUTTER
Be especially careful to keep sweet butter in a covered container, for it absorbs odors and flavors from other foods in the ice box more rapidly than salted butter.

FRYING PANS
Wipe grease off frying pans before washing, using tissue paper or paper towels kept in the kitchen for that purpose.

BURNED UTENSILS
The marks of burn may be removed easily if the utensil is filled with cold water containing some soda, and is then set over the fire till the water boils.

RECORD BROKEN
BY ATTENDANCE
AT WINTER FAIR
KAUKAUNA EKES
OUT NARROW WIN
AT CLINTONVILLE

Best Exhibits and Largest Attendance in History of Annual Exposition

Kaukauna—The Midwinter Fair closed Friday night with the biggest crowd on record in attendance. In every way the fair was a success. There were more entries than ever before, more prizes, more people and better entertainment. The merchants of the city are highly satisfied with the results of the fair and feel that the city has been advertised in a great deal through it.

The attendance Friday surprised that of Thursday by a large margin. All day a steady line of people passed through the exhibition buildings examining the school, art, family work, farm and auto exhibits. Judges of prizes were difficult with many articles of the same high merit entered in exhibit. John Gorges, general chairman of the fair, said that the winners of the prizes in each exhibit would be announced either Monday or Tuesday as it will take the committee that long to check up on the list of names of successful entrants and the list of prizes awarded.

The Kaukauna Lumber & Manufacturing Co., Herman T. Rinnick department store, C. H. Feller, Fuller Goodman Lumber Co., Kaukauna Times, Wisconsin Cheese Producers' Federation, Farmers and Mechanics Bank, Faust and Son, Haas Hardware Co., Farm Equipment Co., Avenue Grocery Co., Knauf and Tesch, Fargo's Electric Service Co., and the Royal, Inc., were the firms represented by booths and displays in the auditorium. Each company had its booth fixed up very attractively and had several representatives explaining the uses of their particular line of merchandise. Many had contests to attract the attention of visitors and suitable prizes were given the winners. The Royal, Inc., had the most overall reaching from the auditorium to the stage, with a contest of more than 100 inches advertised a record of overall sold by The Royal.

Over $2,000 in cash and merchandise prizes were awarded to exhibitors. Many more prizes were given away by individual merchants. The entertainment was pleasing to the large crowds gathered about the auditorium stage. The mens choruses from Forest Junction was one of the most popular number on the program. Carl McKee and Mrs. Oscar Adler of Appleton in a program of music delighted the vast audience with a variety of more than 100 songs advertised a record of overall sold by The Royal.

RED AND WHITE
HOLDS WAUPACA
TO ONE BASKET

High School Basketball Team Wins Overwhelming Victory by 17 to 2 Score

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The high school basketball team won its fourth game of the season on Friday night when it swamped the Waupaca high school quintet by the score of 17 to 2 in the Knights of Columbus hall here. Waupaca failed to score until the last of the fourth quarter and would not have done so had not Coach Polonis put in his second stringers and gave the youngsters a chance to avoid a shutout.

Neither team scored until the last few minutes of the first period, when Ladwig, Red and White center, pushed on through the net. That broke the jinx, and was followed with rimers by Dernbach and Cooley in quick succession. From then on, the game was a steady one-sided affair with New London scoring at will and keeping Waupaca down with hardly a shot at the basket.

The New London scoring was done as follows: Ladwig 5, Dernbach 8, Cooley 2, Charlesworth 2. The score at the end of the first quarter was 6 to 4 for the locals. During the third period, New London scored another run, bringing the score up to 8. Three more during the third quarter brought the count up to 11, and 6 more by the local high school, with a rimmer by Waupaca in the last two minutes, made the score 17 to 2.

The Red and White team started with Edminister and Charlesworth at guard, Ladwig at center and Cooley and Dernbach in the forward positions. After Dernbach had made these personal fouls, Westphal was put in his place at the start of the second half. However, Dernbach replaced Cooley during the fourth quarter, and in the middle of the last period, Cooley Polonis put his second team in.

Friday night's triumph gives New London a record of four victories and four losses and shows that she still can play the game.

Lose 11 to 9 to Askeaton—Roller Rink Provides Old-fashioned Music

Forest Junction—In a close game at the community hall here on Thursday evening, the Askeaton Athletic Association quintet wrested a victory from its local Rural Cagers by a score of 11 to 9.

Lloyd Mincer, manual training instructor at the Wrightstown high school, was playing with the Askeaton team and was their highest score man, having three field goals and one free throw to his credit. At the close of the first half, the score was 7 to 4 in favor of Askeaton. Shortly after the opening of the second, the locals ran up their score to 8, holding the visitors to 7, but scored only one more point against the 4 of their opponents. Alvin Wolfmeyer, forward for the locals, was their highest score man, making three baskets and one free throw.

A good sized crowd was in attendance, a large following of Askeaton people having accompanied their team. Manager Thomas of the Rural Cagers has one game scheduled at present, which will be played at the hall here on March 4 when his team and the Drillion Boosters, who are in charge of Aldore Ross.

Variety was added to the roller skating at the community hall here last Tuesday evening. In announcement attracting considerable attention beforehand that 100 musical instruments would furnish the music was fulfilled when harmonicas were distributed to all who entered the hall that evening. The music, though weird, was nevertheless furnished.

Weak, Ailing Women
Too Often the Kidneys Are at Fault

WOMEN accept many ills as natural to their sex. They fail to realize that inactive kidneys are often the cause of backache, bladder irregularities, dizzy spells, frayed nerves and the tired, draggy feeling that makes so many careworn and ailing. Thousands have found new health by using Doan's Pills. Ask your neighbor!

Here is Appleton Proof:

Mrs. Joseph Hager, 211 South Outagamie-St., says: "A cold settled on my kidneys and caused a dull ache feeling through the small of my back. My kidneys were out of order and annoyed me a great deal. After taking Doan's Pills, I was greatly relieved. I have not had any return of the trouble and think Doan's are fine."

WOMAN INSANE TEN YEARS IS ADJUDGED SANE

Sons Succeed in Getting Mother Out of Asylum of Waupaca-co—Jury Frees
Her

Special to Post-Crescent
Waupaca—After spending 10 years in the insane asylum, mostly in the Waupaca-co asylum Mrs. Betre Paulsen was adjudged sane by a jury consisting of Samuel Godfrey, Sherman Salversen, Chester Danimon, O.
Linson, Julius Frederickson and Samuel Taylor in county court before Judge William Martin. The hearing was a result of application made by two of her sons through Attorney John C. Hart of this city. Otto L. Olsen, district attorney of Wapaca-co, represented the state. Mrs.
Paulsen will go to Black River Falls to reside with a daughter.

Announcement has been received of the marriage of Dr. C. W. Andrews to Olive Danielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Danielson of Waupaca. The ceremony was performed in Illinois Wednesday. Miss Danielson was formerly an office assistant of the doctor. At present the couple is in Danville, Ill., where it is expected they will remain until about March 1, after which they intend to leave for California where the doctor may resume practice. Dr. Samuel Salan has taken over the local practice of his predecessor and is maintaining the same office as was used by Dr.
Andrews. Dr. Andrews was an active practicing physician in and near Waupaca for nearly 10 years.

Last week the Waupaca Electric Service and Railway Company has had men at work making a house-to-house canvass in order to ascertain the power demands at every place, also to determine whether or not

"BARRIERS BURNED AWAY"
TRUE STORY OF CHICAGO FIRE
Thrills and pathos, romance and melodrama vie with each other to hold you spellbound at the New Bijou Theatre, where "Barriers Burned Away" will be shown Monday and Tuesday.

This picture presents Mabel Ballin
and Frank Mayo in the leading roles of B. P. Bow's famous story of the Chicago fire. It is a drama of the power of a woman's hate and the depth of her love, the heroine being a proud beauty, who, in a fit of pique, toys with the love of a man who, beneath her in station, worshipped her from afar until she gave him encouragement.
Not satisfied to give you a corking good story and a splendid cast, there is the Chicago fire for a climax—crazed mobs fleeing before the whirl-lashing flames, devouring six miles of business buildings and homes, old-fashioned fire engines futilely dashing around, frenzied men behind iron bars stamping out the flames and pleading for freedom, looting, lust and death, the dreadful holocaust depicted in the largest and most spectacular fire scene ever staged.
Mabel Ballin and Frank Mayo play
the leading roles, supported in prominent parts by Wanda Hawley,
Thomas Santschi, Harry T. Morey,
Frankie Mann, Eric Mayne, J. P.
Lockney, Lawson Butl, William V.
Mong, Wally Van and others.

billed at the Elite theater for its first local showing today and tomorrow brings with action.
Barbara La Marr—sinnous, subtle, seductive—is coupled with Lewis Stone—suave, smart, sincere—in the featured roles. A capable supporting cast surrounds them.
The story is declared to be one of the best knitted tales of intrigue and love ever put on the screen, thanks to the novel "Spanish Sunlight," by Arthur Pryde, which forms the basis of the play, and to the craftsmanship of Eve Unsell, who adapted it. "The Girl From Montmartre" was directed by Al Green and produced under the editorial supervision of June Mathis.
NEW SCREEN "FIND"
Film fans will be interested to see Richard Barthelmess' new leading lady, Lois Moran, who will play opposite him in "Just Suppose," which opens at the Elite theater on Monday.
Little Miss Moran is only sixteen years old. After playing in one or two pictures abroad she made her American screen debut in "Stella Dallas," in which she scored an instan-taneous and remarkable success.
In "Just Suppose" she appears as a sweet aristocratic child of the South who falls in love with the very handsome and romantic Prince of "Koronia," played by Richard Barthelmess.
Others in the cast include Geoffrey Kerr, Henry Vibart, Harry Short, Bijou Fernandez and Prince Rokne-dine.

PIANO STRINGS EXERT PULL OF 15 TONS ON WALL

Elmer Cole Shows Necessity for Constantly Keeping Piano in Tune

A piano is only as good as the care it receives. Repairmen of pianos and piano tuners can testify that more pianos are ruined through neglect than through use. The neglect is due largely to the fact that the piano is classified and treated as furniture rather than as a musical instrument of sensitive mechanism. Besides dusting it painstakingly and having it tuned for weddings and parties, the average housewife does little towards keeping it in any kind of condition. Leading authorities claim that pianos should be tuned at least twice a year. All other stringed instruments require more or less tuning every time they are used, so a piano should not be neglected.

Over 16,000 pianos in the Fox River valley have been tuned during the last 15 years by Elmer Cole, 1313 S. Lawrence-st., veteran tuner, who has been established in business here for the last 18 years. Mr. Cole served a two years apprenticeship in Milwaukee where he tuned pianos for the Halco Music Co. He has done practically all the tuning for Appleton music stores, and for local piano teachers since he has been in Appleton.

When one considers the delicate, and highly complicated mechanism of a piano it is easy to understand why there should be a thorough tuning semi-annually. There are about 230 highly tempered steel strings which when drawn to a proper pitch exert a strain on the frame of a piano approximating 15 tons.

Tuning, therefore, is not only for the musical purpose of keeping the piano in pitch, but also for the mechanical purpose of balancing the 15 or 16 tons pressure on the frame. That this balance should be maintained at an exact point is of utmost importance, for when a string is out of tune its tension and pressure upon the sounding board is either greater or less than the scale designer intended. The result is that the balance between pressure and resistance is upset, and if the abnormal strain is allowed to occur in one section of the scale, as it often does, the result may be a split sounding board, a cracked plate, or a broken string, coupled with a serious loss of resonance.

Many piano owners from false motives of economy make a serious mistake when they allow their instruments to go without any attention until they are so wretchedly out of tune as to be almost unbearable to even one except those who are constantly associated with the piano. It is impossible for the child or young student to acquire anything like a true conception of the various intervals in music, unless the piano is in tune.

Mr. Cole spends several weeks every year making a special study of new tuning methods, and new model pianos, so that his service is the most modern in every respect. He also makes a study of the latest types of reproducing pianos.

PARACHUTE JUMPS AID BOY THROUGH COLLEGE

Minneapolis.—(P)—Of all the University of Minnesota students working their way through school, Victor I. Eagan, medical student, has adopted about the strangest. He is a parachute jumper.

Eagan formerly made a living by participating in motorcycle races at Minnesota state fairs. He did his first parachute jumping last summer.

His only complaint is that his 175 pounds is too much of a load for the average size "chute." "I never got a 'chute' big enough," he said, "and consequently I get quite a jolt when I land."

Drop In General Wage Scale Is Not Far Off

Babson Park, Fla.—Roger W. Babson in an exclusive interview today, discussed the pros and cons of the labor situation. He gives us four reasons for both higher and lower wages and his conclusions as to the outlook. His complete statement is as follows: "The four factors favoring high wages are as follows: "Restricted immigration continues to be in full force and is constantly becoming more serious in reducing the supply of labor in this country. Moreover, I see no immediate signs of Congress relaxing immigration restrictions, but rather there are signs which will make the smuggling of labor into the country more difficult. "Prolonging the school years—both by legislation and custom—is constantly tending to reduce the supply of available labor. Formerly the majority of boys went to work when fourteen years of age, and in my opinion many of them were very much better for so doing; but this age is gradually extended to sixteen years or eighteen years. Although the state universities and high schools are a distinct handicap, instead of help, to many young people; yet the state now is to send all children to high school and as many as possible to some state university.

"The prevalent idea that work is something to be avoided is also raising havoc with the labor market, both by keeping people from doing an honest day's work, and by developing our most promising young men into clerks instead of producers. Our fault educational system together with the indifference of parents, is largely to blame for this condition. It is an increasingly serious factor, and some day must be corrected.

"The raising and improving of the standard of living is a constant pressure on wage workers for higher wages. This pressure is greatly intensified by the constantly increasing demands of the wife and children. This condition has always existed and is not to be deplored. Dissatisfaction, among young people especially, is more prevalent today than ever before. This is a hard matter to tabulate satisfactorily, but it is a real factor in the wage situation.

"The greatest basic economic force at work tending to keep wages down is the constantly developing foreign competition. For a while foreign goods can be kept out of this country by a tariff war, but these foreign goods cannot be kept out forever. Trade is like a stream of water and a tariff war is like a dam; but neither trade nor water can be dammed forever. Ultimately the water flows over the dam, or the dam breaks. In this instance either the flowing over or breaking of the dam would mean lower wages in this country.

"The tremendous growth of installment sales, among wage workers makes them very much less independent than formerly. In the old days, the wage worker needed to consider only the landlord and the grocer, when voting for a strike; but now he must think of the piano, radio, phonograph, clothing and various other things which he has purchased on the installment plan. I noticed only yesterday that a Chicago firm is offering trips to Europe payable fifty dollars down and the balance over a period of years.

"The failure of the coal strike is causing strikes to be unpopular at the moment and has resulted in labor organizations losing many members. Of course, wage workers ought to be able to get redress and secure higher wages without resorting to a strike; but under the present setup it seems necessary for them to at least be able to threaten to strike. Without the threat, the average employer pays little attention to their demands, although employers are making a mistake in following this custom.

"The cost of living ought to decline (this does not mean the standard of living). Under these conditions it is difficult for wages to advance and the tendency is for lower wages. Statistics show that wholesale prices are gradually, although slowly, declining. This especially applies to foodstuffs. Corn, cattle, hides, wool and eggs, all are tending lower. Retail prices, invariably follow wholesale prices, this reduction in living costs, which started two years ago, but which was checked last year, should be resumed. With a world wheat crop of four billion bushels in 1925, there should be a general reduction in foodstuff prices all along the line.

CONSTRUCTION WORK
"Economists generally agree that building is at the peak and that the automobile industry is about reaching the peak. If this is so, it means that the demand for skilled labor will gradually lessen as the two industries are the greatest employers of skilled labor today in America. Of course these same economists have been preaching for years that the automobile industry was at the saturation point. Whether they are now correct, only the future can tell. Both the building industry and the automobile industry are intimately bound up with employment and wages, each depending on the other. When one suffers both suffer. The greatest increase in purchasing power in the country has been enjoyed the past few years has come largely from the wage workers. The increased purchases have been the basis of their increased employment. Hence any let up in these purchases would mean unemployment for many.

"Probably the greatest factor in the wage situation, so far as it relates to common labor, is road building. Every community, during the past ten years, has gone crazy over expendi-

EVERY SEASON IS POPULAR FOR KODAKING NOW

Business of Finishing Pictures as Brisk in Winter as in Summer

People have come to realize in the last few years that winter time as well as summer time is Kodak time, according to Frank Koch, dealer in Kodaks photo supplies. Mr. Koch has his shop at 134 E. College-ave and specializes in commercial photography, photo finishing, developing, printing, enlarging and reproducing.

Only a few years ago people stopped eating ice cream during the winter months, and the soda fountains would close up for the season. The same thing was true of picture taking, and it has taken people a long time to realize that many excellent pictures can be snapped in winter. But now, according to Mr. Koch, many people use their Kodaks throughout the winter and obtain wonderful results.

By the constant use of a Kodak all year round people become more experienced in picture taking, get better results, and are encouraged to try taking pictures other than ordinary snapshots. As Kodak fans become more experienced they learn to take indoor time exposures, and flashlights.

A snow covered landscape offers wonderful opportunities for winter snapshots with a Kodak, declared Mr. Koch. The snow is a fine aid in making the exposure as it gives an extremely white light. Many winter snapshots get more exposure than pictures taken in the summer because of the brightness of the snow. One must be careful, however, not to take a picture too early or too late in the day during the winter because of the shortness of the day. But from this time on it is quite safe to take a snapshot at most any time of the day as the light becomes much brighter, and the days longer through February and March.

Contrary to prevalent opinion bright sunlight is not necessary in taking Kodak pictures. Some of the best pictures are made when it is just cloudy enough to shut off the brightest sun rays, according to Mr. Koch.

LUMBER SALES STILL EXCEED PRODUCTION

Though 323 soft wood mills having a standard for normal production, during the week ended Feb. 6 actually cut one per cent more than this, the larger group of 353 principal softwood mills making comparable reports in which group 328 are included, sold three per cent more than they produced. The industry is therefore in a very healthy condition, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Demand promises to reach much larger totals as soon as the passing of the severe storms in the East permits that region to begin on its construction program, and warmer weather in the middle West brings about more active buying there.

Southern pine demand had a temporary check during the week, bookings being about five per cent below output, though shipments exceeded the output and further reduce mill stocks. The larger mills are operating a little more actively, but most of the smaller, non-reporting mills find it next to impossible to keep going. All mills have low stocks and insist on full list prices.

The Coast mills produced twenty-five per cent less during January than they did in January of 1925. Buyers who had been hoping that accumulation of a surplus would weaken prices now find difficulty in placing mixed car orders. The mills entered this year with low stocks, and so far have shipped considerably more than they cut. Their January bookings were 20 per cent more than their output. California buyers have been holding off, and the Atlantic coast has not yet made a real beginning on its spring taking. Rail trade demand, however, made another gain of about a hundred cars during the week ended Feb. 6, and the export situation is more favorable than in a long while. Prices are not merely firm but shown an advancing tendency.

Southern hardwood bookings in the week ended Feb. 6 mounted to their highest average per mill since the middle of last November, being fifty per cent ahead of the cut, which continued at around twenty per cent below normal. Most of the call is for the furniture and automotive industries, as building demand for lumber is not yet reached its spring stride. Prices show less range and are very firm. Northern hardwood mills are cutting much less than they did last year, and selling almost an equivalent amount even in their season of heaviest production. Soft maple has weakened, but all the more important items in the list are very firm, and a brisk industrial demand for the low, box grades has brought advances in No. 2.

TELEPHONE CO. SUES TO STOP TAX PAYMENTS

Eastern Wisconsin Line Claims Calumet-co Cannot Tax Utility

Special to Post-Crescent

Chilton—Whether the Eastern Wisconsin Telephone company is subject to taxation by local units of government was the test made in a case instituted by the telephone company against Calumet-co and William L. Grien, county treasurer. The case was argued in circuit court at Chilton before Judge Fred Geglinger of Oshkosh this week.

It was an action in equity to restrain the county from selling property of the Eastern Wisconsin Telephone company for taxes. An injunction had been previously granted in this case. It grew out of an attempt of the village of Brillion and village of New Holstein placing the real estate of the telephone company used as exchanges upon the tax roll for local taxes. The plaintiff contended that the villages had no right to tax this property for the reason that the telephone company was paying a gross receipts tax under the law and that the taxation of the property by the local municipalities was illegal and void. The court took the matter under advisement and asked the attorneys for the parties to file briefs. L. P. Fox handled this case for the Eastern Wisconsin Telephone Co., and Frederick C. Aebischer, district attorney, for the county.

SEEKS ANNULMENT
Another case which attracted considerable attention was that of Walber vs. Walber, an action brought by the plaintiff, Joseph Walber, to annul the marriage to the defendant. The plaintiff was represented by Joseph Martin, of Green Bay, and the defendant was represented by T. L. Doyle, of Fond du Lac. After the testimony was taken and arguments made to the court the court requested that briefs be submitted, the decision to be handed down later.

Judgment for absolute divorce in favor of Katie Junger, the plaintiff, was granted. There was practically no defense entered by her husband, Carl Junger.

Another case was that of the First National Bank of Manitowish against the Calumet and Antio company on a promissory note. Judgment was entered by default in favor of the plaintiff. Markham & Markham of Manitowish appeared for the plaintiff.

Still another disposed of was the case of Joseph Froehlich vs. Robert Reinholdt et al on an account. Judgment was rendered in favor of the plaintiff. Both parties were represented by local attorneys.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Unsettled tonight and Sunday; snow probable; no decided change in temperature.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

A trough of low pressure extends from the Lake region westward to the north Pacific coast this morning. The center of activity now overlies Iowa, moving eastward, with light snows over central Wisconsin northward. This is expected to expand to snow in this section this afternoon and probably tonight. Another center of activity overlies southeastern Montana, moving southward. Meanwhile high pressure, with cold weather, apparently is gaining energy over Manitoba, which is expected to push slowly southward, and cause temperatures to remain low here over the weekend.

FEW CHANGES IN POLITICAL SETUP IN LAST 7 DAYS

No Nomination Papers Filed in Contest for School Commissioners

The past week saw no new entries, publicly, in contests for various city offices, but there was one withdrawal, that of J. A. Hawes from the race for city assessor.

Thus far no one has filed nomination papers for the new office of school commissioner. But one week remains for completing circulation of nomination papers, as the time for filing will expire on March 2. At first there was some doubt as to whether there would be sufficient candidates in the field from which to select a full school board of seven members. It is understood, however, that there are now more than seven candidates.

No one has announced himself as candidate for city treasurer or for city attorney, although both the treasurer, F. E. Bachman, and the city attorney, A. C. Desser, are in the running.

The contest for mayor is still restricted to Mayor John Goodland, Jr., and A. C. Rule. Four candidates are in the field for assessor, George E. Peotter, Gordon Fish, Charles Schrimpf and John P. Gilsdorf. Those who have filed for aldermen are: Alderman Mike Steinhauer, First ward; Alderman George T. Richard, Third ward; Alderman Wenzel Hassmann, Fifth ward; Alderman R. C. Ziske, Sixth ward; and Fred Wesce, for alderman in the Sixth ward. While there seems to be no opposition in the First, Third and Fifth wards, but the Sixth ward is said to be developing a lively contest.

Dr. Sandborn Taken By Death

and his parents came to Appleton when he was very young. He received his early education in the public schools of Appleton and in 1892 he graduated from Lawrence college. He then entered Northwestern medical college at Evanston from which he graduated in 1896, returning the same year to begin medical practice here.

Three years later he went to Denver, Colo., to become surgeon for the Colorado Fuel and Iron Co., remaining with that organization three years and then returning to Appleton. Medical men of his community as well as of the nation recognized Dr. Sandborn's ability and standing by honoring him with office. He was secretary and president of the Outagamie Medical society several times and has been prominently connected with state and national organizations.

TWO CHILDREN
Dr. Sandborn was married in 1899 to Miss Flora Thompson who survives him. He also is survived by a daughter, Ruth Sandborn, at home, and a son Lloyd Sandborn, a student in the University of Illinois.

The esteem in which Dr. Sandborn was held was attested on Dec. 3 when he was the guest of honor at a community dinner just before he left for Cleveland to preside at the annual convention of the Radiological Society of North America. Men of every walk of life lauded him as a doctor and as a citizen. Among the speakers was Dr. H. B. Orndorff, Chicago, a noted radiological expert. Dr. Orndorff, a close personal friend of Dr. Sandborn, came here to assist in the operation last Wednesday.

Dr. Sandborn was a member of several fraternal and civic societies. He was prominent in Masonic circles for many years, was president of Appleton Rotary club, served on numerous committees of the chamber of commerce, represented the Methodist church on the Boy Scout Committee and was a prominent worker in his church.

INTERCLUB COUNCIL PLANS MEMBER DRIVE

The quota set for the boys of the local association is $150.

That was the question the city clerk Ezra Williams, put to the city hall reporter as he made his daily call here was a case to throw the aldermen in a state of indignation because they had lost out on another box of cigars. But it still is a moot question whether the aldermen can claim cigars, as the arrival at the Cadlin home was not a human baby but a baby alligator. The alderman had ordered the amphibian to be sent home when he was visiting in Florida about a week ago.

"I see you had a lot of publicity about the baby that was born to Alderman and Mrs. George Richard this week, but how is it that you didn't have any publicity about the baby that arrived at the home of Alderman Mark Catlin the next day?"

FRIDAY RESULTS

APPLETON 18, WEST GREEN 11

Feb. 17, Manitowoc 11, Fond du Lac 9, Oshkosh 8, Marquette 18, East Green Bay 16.

A FIGHTING Orange basketball team, minus the services of three regulars, Friday night showed approximately 1,000 persons who were present at Armory G why they were on top of the Fox River Valley Athletic conference before three of their regulars were declared ineligible for violation of W. L. A. rules. With defeat apparently impossible to stave off and with only a few minutes left to play, Coach McAdams' spirited youngsters entertained the spectators with a dime novel rally, overcame Green Bay high school's lead twice and won out on 18-17 victory. The winning field goal was made by Frank Cookson about 30 seconds before the game ended.

To add to Appleton's handicap the loss of Kenin and Lutz, coaches, reliable Orange guards, took ill with measles Thursday night and was also absent from the lineup. His place was easily filled, however, by the less experienced Steinberg, who responded to the occasion in noble fashion. It was the free throw which tied the score once during those last few nerve wracking minutes of the game when a single point meant everything.

At no point during the game was the score separated by more than three or four points. Green Bay led the advantage, 7 to 5 at the close of the first quarter and increased its lead 12-9 at half time. The Orange players finally brought joy to their supporters in the third quarter by adding four points to their total and holding their opponents scoreless.

The final period featured the contest. Shortly after the last quarter started, Heber put the Purple squad into a one-point lead with a basket and Osmond, a teammate, repeated a few minutes later. This put the Purple ahead 16 to 12 and with only a few minutes of the game remaining, Appleton's first home-to-goodness defeat of the season seemed imminent.

Suddenly the aspect of the game changed. Ashman came through with his fourth basket of the game and before the cheers had died down Steinberg added a point from the foul line tying the score at 16 all. Appleton's long punt up enthusiasm which surrounded throughout the ball was immediately damped, however, when a personal foul was called on Ashman and Quinn. Ray center, counted on the Purple three, again putting the Purple before the Purple. On the second rebound, before the timekeeper's gun would announce the end of the game, twenty of these 50 seconds elapsed, Coach McAdams' youths were playing desperately. Then, just before the timekeeper reached for his gun, Frank Cookson got the ball under his own basket and dropped it through the net as several pairs of arms stretched out to spoil the throw. The gun resounded shortly after.

ASHMAN HIGH SCORER

Ashman accounted for 10 of his team's points with four field goals and two free throws. Steinberg and E. Cookson each scored a basket and Lutz, Osmond and the big rover on the Green Bay machine, getting three goals and a free throw for seven points. Quinn, center, scored a pair of baskets and the same number of foul throws. Hansen and Heber each added a basket to the Bay total.

Green Bay took the lead early in the game on a counter made by Osmond and increased another point when Quinn made a free throw. Appleton retaliated with a long shot by Steinberg, two free shots by Ashman and a third by E. Cookson. Hansen put the Purple back on even terms again with a marker from near the center of the floor and Quinn added one from near the same place to put the Bayites in the lead, 7 to 5, as the quarter ended.

Appleton again forced to the front in the second quarter on two neat field goals by Ashman from under the hoop, but the visitors refused to be man under. Osmond increasing his team's total by three points before the half was up.

Starting the third quarter with a three-point handicap, the Orange cagers finished the period leading 13-12 on two field goals by Ashman, after which followed the last thrilling quarter.

The entire Appleton squad played like a unit. Desperately weakened, the team displayed a grim determination and spirit which was kept at high pitch until the game was over. E. Cookson moved around the floor in lightning-like fashion and should be added into one of the leading players of the conference when he locates his snooting eye. Pfeiffer and Steinberg watched their taller opponents like hawks and Steinberg, A. Cookson and Ashman were all fighting every minute. It was without a doubt the most

LAWRENCE PLAYS MARQUETTE FIVE

Denny Men Will Strive for Fourth Consecutive Win Over Murray Team

Coach A. C. Denny and his Lawrence cagers departed for Milwaukee Saturday where they will clash with Marquette university five at the auditorium in the evening in the second meeting between the two squads this season. An extremely hard battle is anticipated by the Blues.

Lawrence has held the upper hand over Marquette in basketball activities the last two seasons and Coach Murray is anxious to put a dent in the Denny win streak. To date the Milwaukeeans have lost three consecutive basketball games to Lawrence, the last defeat taking place here a few weeks ago in a close contest, 18-17.

If Marquette plays Saturday night like it did the second half in its appearance here, Captain Brieske and his followers will have to be on their toes every second if they hope to step on Marquette again. The Murraymen outplayed Lawrence here in the final period but could not overcome the lead which the Blues had established in the early part of the game.

Coach Denny will probably start Ashman at center and Groves and Brieske at guards. The call for forward berths rests between Zarnman, Courtney, Heidehman, Clark and Spud.

LAWRENCE FRESHMEN LOSE TO NEENAH HIGH

Coach Sylvester's Lawrence college-bound basketballers dropped a close 32-20 game to Neenah high school at Neenah Friday evening. Trailing the high school aggregation 11 to 18 at the half, the freshmen staged a comeback in the final period, clearly out playing the last Neenah team, but the seven point handicap was a little too much to overcome. All of the green jerseyed men showed good advantage in the play of the Purple, but standing out to best advantage.

spectacular game witnessed on the armory floor this season. The high school seconds defeated the Bay seconds 21-11 in the preliminary tussle. The Orange juniors led at the half 7-5, playing on practically even terms with their opponents, but in the last two quarters the future members of Appleton high school located their bearing and drew away from the Bay second.

MANITOWOC LOSES

Friday was a night of upsets in the conference. The most startling was the 17 to 14 defeat of Manitowoc by Sheboygan, which feat dropped the former into second place. It was the first loss of the season for Manitowoc. Fond du Lac, by virtue of a slim 9-8 victory over Oshkosh, jumped into the conference lead for the first time this year. The Pruthmen led Manitowoc by half a game. Marinette rose to a tie for fourth place with Appleton by turning back the East Green Bay five, 18-16.

It is interesting to note that three of the conference games Friday night were won by only one point, one by two points and one by three points.

SUNDAY GAMES

Rainbow Gardens vs Hotel Northern. Kunitz Taxis vs Cherry Blossoms. Appleton Oldsmobiles vs Elk No. 327.

With only four weeks remaining on the schedule of the City Bowling league, Hotel Northern and Kunitz Taxis enter the final stretch in a tie for first place. Rainbow Gardens, reposing in second place only one game behind the leaders, also loom as serious contenders for leading honors, and even Cherry Blossoms and Elk No. 327 teams are within striking distance. The latter two will have to add to their win column immediately, however, and at the expense of the leaders.

Rainbow Gardens will have their opportunity of advancing a peg Sunday when they roll the Hotel Northern. Kunitz Taxis and Cherry Blossoms will also engage in an important match, while Elk No. 327 and Appleton Old's will battle each other at the bottom of the list.

A. Kline tops the league average with a count of 192.04, according to figures just compiled. He is the only bowler to surpass the 190 mark. Those in the 180 class are W. Groth, P. Fyles, C. Van Abbe, E. Kostigze, A. Bauer, G. Kiemer, A. Junes and H. Derge.

Oscar Kunitz has rolled the highest single game thus far with a 230 score, and W. Groth, with a 635, tops the highest series. Hotel Northern have registered both the high single game and high series in the team event, with respective counts of 1,024 and 2,902.

BADGERS MEET PURDUE IN CRUCIAL CONTEST

Chicago—(AP)—When Wisconsin meets Purdue Saturday night at Madison, the Badgers get a test that may forecast the final standing in the western conference basketball campaign. Boosted from the lead by Illinois victory over Indiana, 21 to 20, Wisconsin must win to retain even divided honors with the Illinois at the peak. Purdue, meanwhile, must win to lift itself from among the five teams in the fifty-fifty section with an even break in wins and losses.

Northwestern, which drubbed Iowa for its first Big Ten victory, hopes to repeat at Iowa City, though the Hawks have not lost on their home floor. The Purple staged an upset earlier in the week when they toppled Wisconsin by a 10 point margin.

Ohio state and Michigan both down in the conference rating, clash at Columbus.

FOUR BIG TEN TRACK TEAMS IN CARNIVAL

Chicago—Four western conference track teams compete Saturday night in the third annual quadrangular relay carnival, with a number of Big Ten stars entered. Guthrie of Ohio state, former Olympic hurdler and recent all-American track team selection, track team selection, is expected to lead in his events. Wisconsin has entered McGinnis in the high jump and hurdles and McAndrews, another Badger star, will be a sprint contender.

Northwestern's best are Bill Martin, anchor man in the relay, Bob Tannhill, sophomore sprinter, and Al Baggs, shot putter. Chicago relies on Jim Cusack, its star middle distance performer, and Burge in the pole vault and high jump.

Leaping tracks of chiffton, with the skirts out on plus-four lines, are occasionally seen in fashionable Eng and dancing rooms.

EARL ROGERS TRAINING HARD FOR NEXT BOUT

Earl Rogers, Appleton's popular lightweight boxer, who has been adhering to a rigid training program throughout the winter, is now in the best physical condition of his career and is anxious to sign up on another boxing card anywhere in the valley. Earl has been receiving instructions from William Faris, and has shown rapid improvement during the past few months. He has been working out with Joseph Turner, Nick Reiter and Dick Boya. After his fine exhibitions in the last two bouts here, Appleton fight fans would like to see Earl matched on the next card with a capable man.

"BIG CITY" BOWLERS TAKE ST. PAUL ALLEYS

St. Paul—(AP)—An effort will be made by "Big City" teams Saturday night to shake up leaders in the International Bowling association tournament who were left undisturbed after an assault on the maples two shifts Friday night.

The Red Top taxi quint of Fargo, N. D., topped the list on the first shift Friday night, narrowly missing the first 10 leaders with a score of 2,840. Quints from Chicago, Milwaukee and Omaha are expected to put the high marks set up to their severest tests Saturday night. Among the big town bowlers is included Billy Sikty, one of the best known bowlers attending the tournament who will lead the Plankinton Hotel squad of Milwaukee on the first five-man shift. Election of officers and selection of next year's tournament city were among important business that faced the annual meeting of the association Saturday.

KIMBERLY-CLARK CAGING TOURNEY STARTS MONDAY

Niagara, Wis., and Niagara Falls Fives Favored in In-ter-mill Meet

Kimberly—With four tennis battlings for honors, the Kimberly-Clark athletic association will conduct its third annual Kimberly-Clark Co. Inter-mill Basketball tournament, either next Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 22, 23. The mills from Neenah, Niagara, Niagara Falls, N. Y., and Kimberly will be represented.

The Niagara and Niagara Falls teams are pre-tournament favorites, with Kimberly and Neenah squads given outside chances for the championship. The local cagers won the honors last year, while Neenah bested the other competitors in 1924.

The Niagara five has won practically all of its games this year. One of the outstanding members of the team is Sturkie, 1924 captain of the college and one of the best guards in the middle west. Besides Sturkie, the Niagaras has Gls Collins at guard, Bill at center, Vahllesch, G. Collins and Rudinski at forwards.

Niagara Falls, with Kinney, former member of the famous Bushy Business college five, boasts one of its best lineups in years. Kinney played forward with the business college team when it won approximately 65 games in all parts of the country.

He is also playing with the Buffalo Buffals, N. Y., member of a professional league. E. O'Keefe, forward, is a former Pennsylvania man and has been playing pro ball for the past five years. Torrey at center and Stark and Davis at guards with Moore and Davis as utility men complete the lineup.

Coach Bill Smith of Kaukauna and Eddie Kotal will officiate at the games. Vandeville acts will entertain spectators between halves of all games. Reserved seats may be procured at Kimberly clubhouse.

FRENCHMEN BEAT U. S. CHAMPIONS

Tilden Tastes Defeat in Championship Play First Time in 7 Years

New York—(AP)—The names of Jean, Rene and Jacques Jahn that of Suzanne in the list of tennis heroes produced by the land of LaFayette.

Gardner, LaFayette and Brumman, eliminated William T. Tilden, Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter from the national indoor championships here Friday.

One American remains in the struggle—youthful John Van Dine, a Princeton undergraduate. To bring back the title now held by LaFayette, he must defeat LaFayette in the semi-finals Saturday and then overcome the winner of Saturday's contest between Brumman and Brumman.

The great Tilden, who for seven years had not tasted defeat in championship play, was beaten by Kravitz 13-11, 6-2. Richards was beaten by LaFayette 6-4, 6-2. Hunter lost to Brumman 6-4, 6-4.

Shortly after his defeat in the singles Tilden and Fred Anderson turned back Brumman and LaFayette in the doubles semi-finals 6-4, 6-4. Tilden is 29 years old. Before he entered the tournament he said he feared his eyes, constantly turned to the footlights, would give him trouble in indoor play.

DePaola, Champion Auto Racer Of 1925, Is Feared

PETER DE PAOLA

New York—There should be a real battle for the 1926 automobile racing championship between the four leaders of last season.

The quartet, composed of Peter DePaola, Tommy Milton, Harry Hartz and Earl McDonough, is getting ready for a hectic campaign on the board, brick and dirt tracks.

DePaola, it will be recalled, copied most of the honors last year. And this season looms as one of the most feared contenders in the game. Another, the much-beloved Ralph DePalma, uncle of the famous DeWitts this season.

The coming campaign should be one of the greatest in the history of the sport. Big races are scheduled in various sections of the country. Quite a few of the tracks are down to stage two classes. Most of the events will be at the 250-mile distance.

The main feature, of course, is the annual 500-mile grid at the Indianapolis speedway. It's the blue ribbon classic, bringing together virtually all the outstanding drivers in America and quite a few from Europe.

Automobile racing engines, according to report, will be smaller this season. But greater speed is expected. An average of over 120 miles an hour is predicted in some racing quarters.

As usual, a big list of prizes will be put up in the various races, with the Indianapolis, a "Coke" city and Altoona events perhaps outdoing the others a trifle in a momentary way.

BILLY EVANS Says

RICKARD SPEAKS

Tex Rickard knows fighters. He is the outstanding promoter of things aside.

When Mister Rickard speaks, he says something. Recently he named Chick Sugars as the best bantam weight in the country. In the Rickard rating he was No. 1.

Since Charley Phil Rosenberg is the champion, the opinion as expressed by the well known Mr. Rickard, seemed quite a flurry among ring followers.

When Abe Goldstein was bantam champion he graciously passed up an engagement with Sugars. Since losing his title, Abe isn't so particular. When he asked Rickard for an engagement at the Garden in New York, Tex named Sugars, Goldstein accepted.

I saw that bout and Sugars certainly made good the nice things that Rickard had previously said about him. He gave the former champion a most artistic boxing.

Sugars weighed 118½ pounds for Goldstein and looked strong. It seems, however, he prefers the featherweight class as he has repeatedly challenged Kid Kaplan.

But Sugars is no super fighter, as recent events have proved. He had better stick to his class, the bantam weight.

PEASE FOR SUGARS

Three days after polishing off Goldstein at Madison Square Garden, Sugars looked up with Babe Herman at Boston.

In Herman he picked a tough hard, regarded by many as superior to even Champion Kaplan. In his last fight Herman had knocked out the hard hitting Johnny Datto in Cleveland.

While Herman was the favorite to win over Sugars, the experts believed he would be hard pressed. In winning about as he pleased, Herman provided the first paydirt upset of 1926.

While I still have a high regard for Sugars, despite the troubling he received from Herman, a looks very much as if he had been overmatched.

Few fighters in the space of three days can meet two of the best men in the bantam and featherweight class. That is what Sugars tried to do and it proved too great a task.

Sugars, a colored boy, has been touted by eastern experts as the best bantam since the days of George Dixon. The defeat by Herman came as a great surprise.

STICK TO CLASS

On the same program as Sugars at Madison Square Garden, was Johnny Risko, Cleveland heavyweight, who met Jacy Delaney.

It was the Gotham debut of Risko. Undoubtedly he was a trifle nervous, working for the first time before a packed house of 20,000 critical New Yorkers.

Risko isn't one of those fighters who makes a good first impression. You must see him a number of times before you really appreciate his fighting ability.

There is nothing flashy about him and he lacks polish but he can fight. As Gene Tunney and Jack Delaney are now aware, incidentally, Risko, even in good shape, is the type of fighter who looks 10 to 15 pounds overweight.

"Where did you get the butcher boy, Tex?" yelled the fans as Risko in the first round floundered about the ring after the elusive Delaney. "Look him to sleep, Jack, and let us go home."

Before the fifth round, the crowd that had been ridiculing Risko, was cheering him. At the finish he was fresher than Delaney, after having been the aggressor in every round.

Risko knows nothing about the Charleston and no one will ever marvel at his ring footwork but the young man can fight and has the courage to do it.

LAUD CIVIC WEEK AS WAY TO WAKE UP COMMUNITY

Cities Tell Chamber of Commerce How Civic Later-prise Is Stimulated

Civic week, wherever it has been observed with Dan Weigle as the director of activities, has been found to bring new life to the community, according to the statements of mayors, business and professional men and citizens here of commerce of these cities.

Mr. Weigle will come to Appleton the second week in March, and Civic week activities will begin with a community church service in Lawrence Memorial chapel Sunday afternoon, March 7, in which the noted speaker will give his celebrated address, "The Soul of a City."

The most recent American city to observe Civic week is Canton, Ohio. William T. Kuhns, president of the Canton Chamber of Commerce, comments on it as follows: "I feel that Civic week, which we have just finished, has done more to stir up the civic, business and spiritual life of Canton than anything we have ever done."

"The united families who support the Civic dinner and the great mass meeting held on Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the churches, at which 4,000 people listened most attentively to the masterly address of Dan Weigle, have all tended to mark a new era in the life and development of Canton."

Secretary Edward R. Smith of the Clubhouse chamber of commerce has congratulated Appleton on its plans for Civic week and speaks highly of Mr. Weigle's influence. Civic week in Appleton has the backing of the chamber of commerce, the mayor, the luncheon clubs, the churches and schools.

LENROOT OPENS 1926 CAMPAIGN

Senator Expected to Fire Opening Gun in Speech at Janesville

Madison—(AP)—The first skirmish of the forthcoming senatorial campaign in Wisconsin is scheduled for next week.

Senator Irvine Lenroot, whose seat in congress is coveted by several figures in Wisconsin politics, returns to the state to deliver a Washington's birthday address at Janesville. He is expected to definitely enter the ring as a candidate for a third term at that time.

Although it has been anticipated generally that Senator Lenroot will be opposed for re-election by Governor Elaine, no formal announcement has been made by any senatorial candidate.

The week also will see the appearance in Milwaukee of Senator William Borah of Idaho, who led the recent fight against entrance of the United States into the world court. Senator Lenroot led the administration forces which succeeded in obtaining a majority vote favoring entrance with reservations.

Senator Borah appears in Milwaukee Tuesday night as guest of the Lutheran society, and will speak in the auditorium.

Janesville republicans who are arranging the meeting which will be addressed by Senator Lenroot, have planned a banquet in his honor. Senator Lenroot will speak in Madison Tuesday night.

A Great Year ~ A Great Car ~ and Lower Prices

1925 was the greatest year in Dodge Brothers history.

More than a quarter of a million Dodge Brothers Motor Cars were built and sold, yet demand was far in excess of production—and continues to mount.

To meet this world-wide need for a smart and dependable motor car, Dodge Brothers, Inc. have recently completed a $10,000,000 program of expansion, vastly increasing production and lowering the cost of manufacture.

Remarkable new machine equipment has also been installed—further reducing costs and perfecting quality.

As a result Dodge Brothers, Inc. were enabled on January 7th, to announce a schedule of prices that has revolutionized all previous standards of motor car value.

Prices all the more impressive because they apply to a dependable and trusted product made still better in many vital respects—

Engine operation incredibly smooth and quiet.

Instant engine response and elasticity.

Stylish new bodies finished in rich and distinctive colors.

Exceptional driving vision.

And the most important advance in steel body construction since Dodge Brothers pioneered in building the first all-steel body.
